Information system for the exchange of information on the indebtedness of business entities

SISBIZ is an information system for exchanging information on the indebtedness of business entities.

— Members of the SISBIZ system are granted access to individualised data on the indebtedness of a particular business entity. Its aim is to provide for the effective assessment and management of credit risk at lenders, to encourage policies and measures for responsible lending and sustainable borrowing, and to prevent excessive indebtedness on the part of business entities.

— The legal basis for collecting and processing data and information on the indebtedness of business entities is set out in the Central Credit Register Act (the ZCKR) and the corresponding secondary legislation.

— The data in the system is confidential, for which reason access to the SISBIZ system is granted solely to members and to authorised persons at a member of the SISBIZ system by means of a digital certificate from a qualified issuer.
