20. obletnica Banke Slovenije

Banka Slovenije je 25. junija 1991 začela izvajati naloge centralne banke Republike Slovenije, kot jih opredeljuje Zakon o Banki Slovenije. Uvedla je slovenski denar in vodila denarno politiko, da bi zagotovila stabilnost tolarja, slovenske valute. Januarja 2007, ob uvedbi evra, je postala Banka Slovenije članica Evrosistema. Z Evropsko centralno banko in drugimi nacionalnimi centralnimi bankami, članicami Evrosistema, izvaja skupne naloge, opredeljene s Pogodbo o ustanovitvi Evropske skupnosti, Statutom ESCB in Statutom ECB.

V dvajsetletnem obdobju je Banka Slovenije pod vodstvom treh guvernerjev dr. Franceta Arharja, mag. Mitja Gasparija in dr. Marka Kranjca sprejela in realizirala veliko pomembnih odločitev in nalog. Za zaznamovanje dvajsete obletnice Banke Slovenije sta izdelani zlata in srebrna medalja, ki na obeh straneh ponazarjata zapletene varovalne sisteme oziroma mehanizme, s katerimi centralna banka varuje, definira, ohranja stabilnost valute in skrbi zanjo.

20th Anniversary of the Bank of Slovenia

On 25 June 1991 the Bank of Slovenia began carrying out its tasks as the central bank of the Republic of Slovenia, as defined in the Bank of Slovenia Act. It introduced the Slovenian currency, the tolar, and administered a monetary policy to ensure its stability. In January 2007, when Slovenia joined the euro, the Bank of Slovenia became a member of the Eurosystem. Together with the European Central Bank and the other national central banks that are members of the Eurosystem, it carries out the joint tasks defined in the Treaty Establishing the European Community and in the Statute of the ESCB and of the ECB.

In its twenty years under three governors, Dr France Arhar, Mr Mitja Gaspari and Dr Marko Kranjec, the Bank of Slovenia has undertaken and implemented many important decisions and tasks. To mark the 20th anniversary of the Bank of Slovenia, a gold medal and a silver medal have been produced; they feature the complex security systems and mechanisms by which the central bank safeguards, defines and upholds the currency and maintains its stability.
